Law Documents & ATS Instructions

Here you can find the official law documents for how to control. These contains how to control, but not local procedures. For that see Local ATS instructions in the top

- BLs (Bestemmelser for Luftfart)
- ICAO Doc 4444
- ATS Instructions
    - ATS Instruction 14

- AIP - Denmark
    - VFR Charts for Denmark & Copenhagen

BLs (Bestemmelser for Luftfart)

BLs (Instructions for Airtraffic) is the law document for flying in Denmark instructing how to fly. It is a gathering of law documents that sets the required standards for pilots, however it is identical to ATC rules, and hence a great source of learning the correct rules.

BLs will tell you:

- Rules concerning flying
- General laws concerning controlling, such as airspace, clearances, etc.
- General approved Phraseology

ATS Instructions will NOT tell you:

- Local regulations
- Tips and tricks
- Anything VATSIM related
- Controller specific rules

There are many of these documents so we have done you a favor and included the relevant ones and highlighted all that is considered relevant for VATSIM.

The documents should be studied as you are waiting to commence Pre-Training (1st Stage). Later once you start training the Pre-Training course will reference these documents from time to time.

ICAO Doc 4444

ICAO Doc 4444 is the official standard for controllers. It is a long long document which sets the required standards. Note that ATS Instructions may be more limiting than doc 4444.

It is however a pure document which notes down the basics of controlling such as separation requirements and approved clearances

Doc 4444 will tell you:

- General rules concerning separation
- General laws concerning controlling
- Basic clearance structure

ATS Instructions will NOT tell you:

- Phraseology
- Local procedures
- Tips and tricks
- Anything VATSIM related

This document is very long, and mostly irrelevant for an S2 student, so we have only included the pages which are relevant. Remember that this is the "mother" document and is where it all originates from, so reading it and understanding it is a vital part of your training.

The documents should be studied as you are waiting to commence Pre-Training (1st Stage). Later once you start training the Pre-Training course will reference these documents from time to time.
